Plant Maintenance Director

Superheroes have the ability to do things in a way that not everyone person can. True heroes maintain heart, courage, character and tenacity, stepping up for what is right in the face of obstacles. It is the everyday unrecognizable moments of heroism we take for granted. The trust, goodness, sense of responsibility, strength and quiet character exemplified in George Baier.

George Baier, Delta County Memorial Hospital's Plant Maintenance Director is our Hospital's superhero. Never waiting for someone else to be the hero, George shows up every day to go above and beyond keeping our infrastructure functioning, especially this year during the COVID pandemic.

George has super powers and seemingly limitless power to get things done. George is always on a project deadline and makes certain the projects are on track and "by the book" while keeping all the employees safe and our organizations plant operations running smoothly.

George's gift and ability is to do all this while making employees and patients feel calm and assured. We know that George will be the level headed discerning voice getting us through the crisis, meeting or project with a laugh and a smile.

"George is noted to be one of the nicest hard-working guys taking care of everyone timely and with a smile," says Julie Huffman, CLO. "Known for not just his heart, but also his extreme knowledge and detailed in his work. [He is] such a joy to work with."

Available and on call 24/7, George is there for any kind of emergency be it weather (plow the parking lots and walkways), building a COVID barrier at the last minute, researching and installing negative pressure spaces, oversee engineering, remodels, upgrades, monitor air exchanges, you name it, he can do it.

"Our hospital has had some major changes affect us this past year and George and his team do quality work that has saved the hospital thousands of dollars in repairs and special building projects," states Larry Vincent, DCMH CFO. "He and his team are able to perform these repairs without having to hire outside firms and contractors."

There are few true heroes. Heroes, who handle well intentioned challenges with kindness and grace, step-up when the stakes are high, even if at a personal cost. There are even fewer moments in life that are spent celebrating those true heroes. We are honored to celebrate George and what he does every day, and the big impact he has on us all.
